I beg you will do me the favor to bring to the notice of the Committee that the sum of six Rupees fixed as salary of the Compounder for the Medical Depot about to be established in the College is extremely inadequate for the purpose. I made particular enquiries as to whether a man on that salary is available but found that none that is able to read prescriptions and dispense Medicines without assistance would accept the situation on so low a term. The nature of my duties being chiefly confined to visits at the residence of the Patients where prescriptions of Medicines are given, precludes me from rendering any assistance in Compounding the so prescribed Medicines, because these prescriptions may be presented to the Depot at a time when I shall probably be away on duty. Under these circumstances, I am compelled to request the favor of your proposing to the Committee the necessity of appointing a competent Compounder on a reasonable salary.

that Mr. Knighton has been appointed su-vacancy thus caused is as you are aware, at pre-

President of the Hink College.

I have the honor to reply to your letter of this date reporting that Mr Knighton has been appointed superintendent of the Normal School about to be established, and desiring that early temporary arrangements may be made to release him from his present duties.

Since the arrival of Messrs Cargill & McCliffe, the heaviest and most important part of Mr Knighton's duties has been the giving instruction to the Christian Classes of the College in History.
I would propose, as a temporary arrangement until the appointment of a permanent Professor of History, that the Principal should superintend the Historical studies of the 1st Class, the Headmaster those of the 2^d Class, and the second Master those of the 3^d Class. This is a simple arrangement which can be entered upon immediately, should it meet with the approval of the Committee.

Dear Sir,

I beg to inform you that a set of new desks & forms is urgently required for one of the classrooms upstairs. Those at present in use belong to the Senior Department. The Headmaster has requested me to return them. We cannot spare them any longer, on account of the increase of pupils in the Senior Department, particularly in the second last class.

It has also been suggested to me by the Headmaster that desks are required for the classrooms of the Senior Department.

I beg to propose that one room be fitted up. If the necessary dethe presence of the King: the latter, who was seated on a throne, and surrounded by his courtiers, looked at him with a stern and angry expression. The King then rose, and, taking away in his hand a sword which lay on a table, he advanced towards the culprit, and, with a loud voice, exclaimed, "The law is against thee!"

THE GULISTAN,
OR
THE ROSE GARDEN,
BY THE CELEBRATED POET OF SHERAZ, SHEIKH MUSLEOODEN SAADI.

CHAPTER I.
ON THE DEPOSITION OF KINGS.
STORY THE 1ST.

I heard of a King that he gave the signal for the execution of a culprit: the poor fellow, in this state of hopelessness, began to abuse the King in his own language in severe terms: for it is related—

He who hath life and soul, resigned Speaks that which spareth in his mind;
When men he goaded by despair,
The tongue grows voluble at air;
And thus the cat infuriate made Will dig a track in desperate dread.
When every chance of flight hath ceased,
And all necessity increased,
The naked hand in sheer despair, Quick grasps the blade of sword or spear.

The King asked "what does he say?" One of the well-disposed Wuzceers replied, O, my Lord, he saith—

That God doth love the beneficent heart That anger reins and mercy doth impart.

The King had compassion on the culprit and desisted from his destruction. Another Wuzceer, who was at enmity with the first, said, "It does not become us of the same quality (nobles) to speak aught but the truth in the presence of the King: this fellow hath abused the King and spoken disrespectfully. The King turned his face away in displeasure from such language and said: "The falsehood of that noble is more pleasing to me than the truth which you have spoken: for his object was mediation, and yours malignity, and the learned have said"—falsehood, blended with counsel, is better than strife-exciting-truth.

The King who acts by counsel's peaceful guiding voice, 'Tis pity he should hear of aught but good advice.

It was written on the Cupola of Ferredoon's palace thus:—

With none my friend this world will e'er abide,
Then fix thy heart on God: with him reside,
And place not hope on earthly kingdoms hoayed,
For earth has myriads cherished and destroyed, When to depart the perfect spirit sighs
It matters not on what the body dies.

STORY THE 2ND.

One of the Kings of Khorasân saw Sultân Mahmood Subuktugeen in his sleep, or in a dream, a hundred years after his death, and when his remains were reduced to dust and ashes, except his eyes which kept revolving in their sockets and beholding as usual. The whole of the wise people became perplexed at the interpretation of the dream, except a durwesh who made obeisance and said—"he is still beholding because his kingdom is in the possession of others."

Some thousand souls for fame renown'd Lie singly buried under ground;
Of whose existence now no trace Remains on earth's expansive face:
And that old corpse to earth consign'd Both flesh and bone hath quite resign'd The deeds of Nooshirwan survive Tho' ages past be ceased to live.
Do good as stranger whilst thou can And count thy years a happy span Before a voice proclaim the high behest That such an one—in dead and gone to rest.

STORY THE 3RD.

I heard of a Prince, who was ugly and low in stature, but his brothers were tall and handsome. His father once eyed him with aversion and disgust, the son by penetration perceived it and said, "Oh my father the wisdom of the diminutive is preferable to the ignorance of the high statured. It is not every thing of great value that is most useful."

"The kid tho' small and delicate in frame, Is purer than an elephant of frame.
"The' Shal's Mount is reckoned nought in height By you; yet God esteems it in his sight.
"Hast thou not heard what starving wit one day, To a fat and lubbing fool with truth did say—
"A Tame horse is worth, though weak and lean, A stable full of asses fat and clean."

The father laughed and the Courtiers approved; but the brothers were vexed to the soul.

Until his mind a man shall once have spoken, Of merit or demerit you're no token.
Ev'n I have believ'd not every thicket free, Perhaps a leopard lurketh near to thee.

I have heard that at this time a powerful enemy appeared against the King, and when the two armies met, the first person, who pranced his fiery steed in the field of battle, was the diminutive son, and said—

"I am not he whom in the day of fight, Thou shalt perceive as foremost in the flight;
"I'm he whose head in blood and dust enroll'd, Perchance thou might'st with fiercer brace behold:
"For, he who dashes into battle hot, Sports with his life and blood and careth not!
"But he who from the field like cowards flees, Sports with the lives and blood of soldiers free!"

Saying thus he dashed into the ranks of the enemy, and overthrew several of his experienced soldiers. When he came before his father he kissed the ground of obeisance and said—

"O thou who deem'st my little person weak, "As long as my true worth thou didst not seek,
"The horse of slender make proves useful in the plain,
"And not the fatted oxen breed on choicest grain!

It is related, that the soldiers of the enemy were numerous and the King's party were but a small band, which made an attempt to retreat when the diminutive hero called out "fight on my brave lads, and prove yourselves men," the cavalry took courage at this and suddenly charged. I have heard that on that day they obtained a victory over the enemy. The King kissed his son and embraced him, and every day took greater notice of him, and eventually nominated him his successor to the kingdom. His brothers became jealous and conveyed poison in his food: his sister saw it from a window, and slapped the blinds of it: this diminutive hero comprehended it and withdrew his hand from the meal and said, "It is hard that the brave should die, and the worthless seize his possessions."

Although the Hoona, (bird of happy fate, Whose shadows passed but once o'er human pate, To kingdoms, empires, raise the favored sight) Should from this earth be banished quite,
Yet none would seek the same auspicious goal,
From shadows of the hideous croaking owl!

They apprized the father of the above circumstance, who sent for the brothers, and gave them a fitting reprimand, and afterwards to each he allotted an equal portion of his territory, so that strife ceased and contention disappeared; it is related:—

"Dance thou too heavy on broad carpets laid,
"Dance thou too tight on a blanket laid,
"And find repose from labours of the day;
"But in an earthly kingdom far and wide,
"Yea ne'er will find two Kings to rule abide.

Having thus he dashed into the enemy's camp and overthrew several of his strongest soldiers.

STORY THE 4TH.

A band of Arabian robbers had occupied the summit of a mountain, and impeded the passage of the Caravans, or companies of travellers. The inhabitants of the city were alarmed at their depredations, and the troops of the Emperor intimidated, on account of their having secured the most inaccessible fort of the mountains, and made it the place of their refuge. The magistrates of that quarter held a council for the suppression of their depredations, and were of opinion that if this Banditti should continue their ravages in this way, their extirpation would become impossible.

The tender tree, when just commenced to shoot, One may, by gentle effort, soon uproot;
But if you leave it, for a space to grow, You could not by an engine overthrow.
The fountain's source a pencil might restrain,
But flow, an elephant would strive in vain.

The consultation ended thus, that they appointed a person in search of them, who watched an opportunity until the robbers had gone in pursuit of a tribe, and their habitations were vacated. They sent a party of experienced and battle-tried men, who took shelter in the recess of a rock. In the night when the ruffians returned after having completed their expedition, and having brought plunder, they unaccounted themselves and deposited the booty. The first enemy that overtook them was sleep! When the first watch of the night had passed—

When the disk of the sun in the darkness was hid,
And when Joan the mouth of the whale had been slid,

The gallant little party leaped out from their ambuscade, and bound each of the robbers by the arm, and brought them into the presence of the Emperor, who commanded them all to be put to death. It happened that amongst them was a young man, the fruit of the flower of whose youth had just appeared, and the verdure of the garden of his cheek had just blossomed. One of the Wuzzeers kissed the foot of the throne of Majesty ; and placed the countenance of intercession on the ground, and said " this boy has not as yet tasted of the fruit of life, " nor has he experienced the gratifications of youth— " my request from your benevolent and princely disposition " is that his exemption from death would be an obligation " conferred on your slave." The King, in displeasure, withdrew his face from this request, which did not come within the approbation of his mighty wisdom :

He who is inherently vicious and base
The lustre of the virtuous will never embrace ; Education to a savage, who ne'er had a home,
May be likened to voluents that are placed on a dome.

The best way is to eradicate their progeny and origin : to destroy their root and seed : for, to smother the fire and leave the sparks, and to kill the viper and preserve its young, are not the acts of the wise.

Altho' the clouds pour down upon the earth As rain the waters pure of life and birth, The fruitless willow still will never give Of that which man may eat thereof and live,
With worthless men no dealings e'er entreat, For from a weed no sugar canst thou eat.

The Wuzzeer heard the above sayings, and obsequiously but reluctantly approved them, and applauded the excellence of the King's wisdom, and said " that which his Majesty, (may his kingdom encrease,) has observed is the mirror of truth ; for had he obtained his education in the society of those ruffians, he would have become one of them ; but your slave has the hope, that by the society of the virtuous, he will acquire education and adopt the inclinations of the wise : for he is yet a child, and the disposition of the rebellious and the wickedness of that clan, has not been predominant in his mind ; and it is in tradition that—

Sure every child that's born is in the faith,
And so Mahomed great the prophet saith :
But whether Christian, Jew or infidel, Hereafter Marshallib, with parents dwell.

The wife of Lot with wicked men In friendship joined : alas !
The gift of prophecy was lost To Lot and all his race,
The dog who, with his masters' stress, Slept in a cave for years, Partook the actions of the good,
And shared in human fears !

He said this, and a number of the Courtiers became partizans in his intercession, so that the King desisted from the youth's destruction, and said I have forgiven, although I did not perceive the wisdom of it.

O! dost thou know what Zal one day To Rustoom hero said,
A foe you must not reckon weak,
His vengeance always dread.
We see expansive waters spring:
But from a little source,
And when in floods the torrent runs Along its winding course, The sturdy canal lead and all
Is swept away by force.

In short the Wuzzeer carried the boy home, and reared him with kindness and liberality, and for his education, appointed tutors and accomplisners, so that they taught him the beauties of logic and all the courtly accomplishments, until, in the eyes of every one, he became approved. Once the Wuzzeer, in the presence of the King, was speaking in praise of his proficiency and virtues saying—"the precepts of the wise have made impression on him, and his former ignorance has departed from his nature." The King smiled at these words and said—

The whelp of a wolf will be a wolf at end, Although by man he may be reared to mend.

Two years passed over him thus, when a gang of vagrants got access unto him, and leagued in a conspiracy: and on a favourable opportunity he (the youth) murdered the Wuzzeer with his two sons, and carried away an immense deal of property, and took up his father's station in a den of thieves, and became a hardened

PROSPECTUS.

In the Press, and shortly will be published, an English version

THE GULISTAN,
THE ROSE GARDEN,

SHUTCH SAADI,

BY H. R. COOPER,

In Prose and Verse as in the Original.

Mr. C. in venturing to offer to the Public another translation of the GULISTAN, rests his claim to public favor and patronage, solely on the originality of the present version to the preceding ones.

Mr. C. has endeavoured to preserve, as far as possible, the true and peculiar idiomatic expressions and precise meaning of the Persian words, without destroying their sense in English, or losing any of that pith and beauty of language which is so prominently and figuratively displayed in this truly interesting and instructive Work.

To do this thoroughly has been a labour of no small difficulty, and from the great care and attention that has been bestowed on the Work Mr. C. can confidently recommend it to the public. Several numbers have occasionally appeared in the Calcutta Englishman and Agra Ukhbar, and the favorable notice taken of them, with a desire to merit support, has induced the translator to devote more than ordinary care and attention in the translation of the Work.

As a Text Book in the Colleges, Mr. C. trusts it will prove a valuable acquisition, inasmuch as each story, both Prose and Verse, will be placed in juxta-position with the Original Persian, so that the syntactical construction of the language can be with the utmost facility traced. The Work will be ready for delivery in December or January next, or earlier, if practicable. Subscribers desirous of having the Work in Chapters, as they are ready, can have them by signifying their wish to that effect to Mr. H. R. COOPER, Proprietor of the Recorder Press.

PRICE,..... Co.'s Rs. 8 per Copy.

Subscribers will be pleased to send in their names to the Recorder Office, Benares, stating the number of Copies required.

Superiority Dutt Esq

Secretary of the American College

Sir

I am reluctantly compelled to represent, with a view to the removal of the nuisance, that there is a Public Privy on the south west side of the College, the effluvia from which is very offensive, particularly at the present season. I have been to see it. The filthy state of the place is indescribable. A few men rather anxious to remove about it, which partially conceal it from view; but with this exception, no attempts appear to have been made to render it such as a place of the kind in a large city ought to be. Notwithstanding the extraordinary accumulation of filth, and the stream of effluvia proceeding from it, the neighbourhood is densely crowded on every side with huts, inhabited by human beings. The wretched creatures exhibit in their appearance painful proof of the unhealthy atmosphere by which they are surrounded -

I am sure that a representation from the Committee, backed by the active influence of particular Members, would have the effect of inducing the Conservative Department to remove the nuisance, or to order such arrangements as would prevent its being felt to the same extent. A quick building of the most simple ^{construction} ~~constitution~~ & strict orders to have it changed every morning before sunrise, is all that is necessary -

In connexion with the above I beg to suggest that the Committee would at the same time endeavour to get the small stagnant tank picked up, in front of the School Society's new School House. It is not needed for any useful purpose, so near the fine tank in the neighbouring Square; and experience proves ^{that} it is in a high degree unhealthy.

I have &c.

We, the undersigned, Music-teachers of the Hindu College, respectfully beg leave to convey to the Council of Education our earnest desire for the early appointment of Mr. Harraden to the professorship of Music which, we believe, the Council have it in contemplation to establish—among others in this Institution.

The elementary acquaintance with this Art which we have already acquired from Mr. Baraden's gratuitous instructions is likely ^{we apprehend,} to be lost to us unless he speedily resumes them.

and it will be the first opportunity of mentioning to the Council that we commenced the study of English Music in this College with not very sanguine hopes of arriving at proficiency, and with a struggle against the national prejudices opposed to it in this country.
The experience, however, of some months - confirmed by the recorded opinion of the Committee depu-ted to report upon the feasibility of its inroduction

here as a branch of study has shown us that we may reasonably hope to benefit by the cultivation of this fine art; and that the prejudices of our countrymen against it are totally without foundation.

We accordingly look forward to the establishment of a professorship of Music in the Hindu College with feelings of lively interest; and respectfully hope that our wish as on the subject will weigh with the Council in expediting ^{the} matter.

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

Final Sept 18

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of Mr. Under Secretary Beaden's communication No. 470 dated the 11th instant, transmitting for consideration in the Financial Department, the Memorial of certain Unconvenanted Servants in the Bengal Establishment, praying for alteration in the Rules regarding leave of absence and acting allowances, and in reply to inform you that the Memorial will be transmitted for the orders of the Honble the Comd of Directors.

3^d It is not the intention of the President in Council to make any alteration in the general tenor and principles of the rules, excepting under the authority of the Honble Comd, nor does he propose to recommend any change in their provisions excepting that it be left discretionary with the Government, in the most urgent case being shown at the expiration of a year's absence, to grant six months additional leave on renewed Medical Certificate. The existing prohibition against servants of the Government returning to Europe without vacating their appointments, which applies alike to the Convenanted and Unconvenanted service, can only be removed by the Home Authorities.

3 Upon para 7 of the memorial, the President presented in Council deserves me to remark that he understands the discretion alluded to is already exercised in many public Departments, and that he does not object to the assumption of such discretion on reasonable grounds by the heads of Offices, but that he is not prepared to sanction by specific rule the grant of a privilege that, if looked upon as a right, might be open to inconvenience, and possibly to abuse.

Government Book Agent

Sir,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated 24th Instant, proposing two questions regarding the Bengali work styled Watan panchabindhatt:-

In reply, I beg to state:-

Firstly.- that the style and diction of the work in question are admitted by all competent judges whom I have met with, to be unexceptionable. I have read the work through, and consider it to be, in this respect, to be unsurpassed - probably unequalled. The author has endeavoured to raise the standard of the Language by introducing occasionally what I think judiciously. - certain Sanskritisms, which may be distasteful to the anglicized Hindus of the old school. -

Secondly.- there are not in my opinion any passages of an indecent or immoral nature. The incidents perhaps turn too often on the "tender passion" for the present standard of European taste - but the language is very guarded, a great improvement having been made in this respect on the Hindoo Betal pachisi, of which it is a translation. - Instances of immorality are,

and introduced but never flippantly and always I believe with reprehension. - False morality is to be found, no doubt, as will be the case with all Hindu works of former ages - Had there been any other work combining more sterling qualities with elegance and purity of diction, I should have recommended it, instead of that, under consideration as it was. I assigned to one of the highest Classes, the second, and I think it may safely be put into the hands of those youths who can be trusted with the works of Shakespeare and Phe - to say nothing of Homer and Virgil. -

I have the honor to be Sir,

Secretary to the Hindu College

Sir

I beg to acknowledge your letter of the 10th ultimo and in reply have to state that the Dome not having been built in keeping with the College Building, orders have been given for the removal of the six iron pillars supporting the cupola and substituting brick ones of the same order with those of the College Edifice. The Committee trust this will remove the present unbecomely appearance of the Dome. Should the Committee of Management of the Hindu College have any thing further to state as to the architectural improvement of the Dome, some of the members of our Committee will be happy to confer with them on any day and at any hour that may be appointed.

S. J. Mouab Esq^r M. D.
Secretary to the Council of Education
G. S. G. S. G. S.

Sir,

Having been requested to furnish a few young trees for the Hindu College Compound in Red Bldg^s necessary for the purpose of affording shade to the play grounds, and to replace those at present on the ground which are not found to answer the above purpose, I beg to mention that it will be necessary before the new trees can be expected to thrive, that lodgements of water in their roots should be obviated by draining the grounds of the excess of surface water thrown upon them from the adjacent buildings.

In Bengal the annual fall of rain is 42 inches, or six feet and when this is increased to almost as much more thrown suddenly upon the soil from the roofs of adjacent buildings, as in the case of the Hindu College grounds, it would be vain to expect well grown trees in such a situation, unless some means were provided to relieve the grounds from the excess of water thus thrown upon them.

What I proposed in my private note, and which I have now the honor to repeat in a public form, is, that channels formed by means of gentle sloping, should be directed from the grounds into the adjacent tank, the water of which will thus receive fresh and pure supplies after every shower, instead of being replenished as at present by the percolations from drains, and the grounds of the College will be rendered dry and fit for the purpose of play grounds at all seasons, as well as for the growth of well grown trees.

The expense of thus forming and improving the grounds, would not I should say exceed one hundred and fifty to two hundred Rupees; but as the pavement around the corresponding front of the building is low and admits of lodgements of water on the foundations, it would be as well perhaps if the Civil Architect should be requested to meet me at the Hindu College any Wednesday or Friday he may name, at 11 o'clock, when the defect alluded to could be pointed out, so as to be rectified at the same time and the whole accurately estimated as to expense.

My dear Mount

The new trees would never come to anything in the Hindu College compound without some little improvement in the ground

I would propose a few gentle slopes to form channels for the exit of surface water in various directions more particularly towards the tank. This would carry off the surface water and Keep the grounds dry when trees would grow up fine specimens. The only good tree in the compound at present is a Sipoo, which delights in swampy others would all grow up sickly.

The proposed improvement would not cost more than 50 Rs. or from that sum to 100, but the health of the establishment would be greatly improved and the play ground would become available for the boys in the series which it is not at present.

Mr. Carr suggested that the Committee might possibly have some objections to the drainage into the tank -

(187)

The effect however would be a great improvement of the tank, which after each fall of rain, or indeed after every shower would receive a rapid accession of clean water directly from a dry hard sward, instead of indirectly from the percolations of drains -

If you will allow me on Wednesday next I will mark the situation of the different trees, so as to admit of the proposed alterations or formations of the surface after the rains if it should be approved of. I should suggest its being done at once,

Please the honor to forward herewith a letter from the Master tendering his resignation of his Professorship in the Kansas College. I beg to propose that the Superintendent of the Historical Studies of the 1st & 2nd and 3rd Classes should be again entrusted temporarily to the Principal the Headmaster & the Deputy Lecturer respectively.

I am not fully aware of the intention of the Committee in regard to the appointment of a Professor to the Eastern School a permanent Professor in appointed he might very well be required to teach one or two more subjects besides History, and for three hours a day instead of one and a half. Arrangements for this purpose could easily be made by adding another class to the College Department, which would then consist of three classes instead of two. I beg you will particularly point this out to those Members of the Management who are engaged in drawing up a new routine of studies.

Permit me to add that in the event of no successor to Mr. Masters being appointed, it would be advisable to alter now that the proposed division of duties of the Principal & Headmaster, with the view of carrying out in regard to the literature and history of the College classes the principles on which the Committee are proceeding in regard to other subjects. The following division of studies is proposed for the consideration of the Committee.

Honble Sir

In reply to Mr. Young's letter N^o 888 of the 14th Instant, requesting us to report whether in our opinion the Sub Assistant Surgeon attached to the Hindu College may reasonably be required to undertake also the Medical duties of the Calcutta Madrasa; we have the honor to state that on enquiring we learn that the duties of the Sub Assistant Surgeon are not so onerous or laborious at present, but that by the aid of a steady Native Doctor or Compounder, to prepare his prescriptions, he might undertake the professional attendance of the Madrasa.

2. The current year, and the present season especially, have, however, been unusually healthy. In a time of great sickness we doubt whether the Sub Assistant Surgeon could perform the Medical duties of the Madrasa in addition to those of his present charge, even with the subordinate assistance suggested, supposing that as a Hindu practitioner he would be much consulted by the Mussulmans of the Madrasa.

There has been a proposal to remove the the letters from the Phillips containing suggestions for the remodeling of the Mathematical Classes.

The Committee will expect me to make one or two observations with regard to the Phillips proposal of uniting the 1st 2nd and 3rd Classes in one large Mathematical Class.

The only advantage which could arise from this plan is that it would economize the time of the Professor. It would not enable him to teach more successfully.

Under our present system the Phillips has it in his power without let or hindrance from any quarter, to divide each class into three distinct sections, giving one trigonometry, another Algebra and another Euclid, precisely as he proposes for the these classes when taken together. The only difference is that the sections would consist of a smaller number of students.

When a new lecture is delivered, the number of students may be increased to an almost unlimited extent. The lecturer can address 300 with the same ease and effect as 30. The only limit is in the capacity of the human voice.

But when, as in mathematics especially, when taught in the Cambridge system, the lecturer finds it necessary to go round from one student to another to examine his work, to give hints & remove difficulties, it is scarcely possible to handle a large class with the same ease as a small one. In such circumstances there is obviously an advantage in having a limited number of students to deal with.

As to the objection, then, so far as the improvement and benefit of the students are concerned, appears to terminate in the question whether sufficient time is allowed to all the parties in the College department. The question in this form is much simplified, and I would gladly leave it to the decision of the Committee without venturing to express any opinion of my own upon it.

209

I must not leave this subject without observing that proficiency in Mathematics has always hitherto been allowed its due weight in entering any student to promotion. Several students were promoted last year on the simple ground of superiority in Mathematics.

Mr. Phillips is desirous that the Committee should relieve him from the necessity of commencing at the College during working hours. May the Committee will be pleased to decide this question with as little delay as possible. I am fully convinced that it is most essential that one of the Professors besides myself should be in attendance every day from half past 10 O'clock A.M. to half past 4 O'clock P.M. That that more than one of the Professors should be subject to this condition appears to me quite necessary.

With regard to a room for Mr. Phillips, he can have the use of my room and if the library. The only furniture required is a large table, a few chairs and perhaps a wash handstand. If the Committee will authorize me to lay out books & will undertake to provide all that is required.

If the Committee will allow me to lay out books more, it would enable me to provide proper cases for all the Philosophical apparatus, which could then be placed in the library, leaving a very little room for the Putcliffe's exclusive use.

The Secretary of the Committee of Management of the Hindes College

Sir

Having received ~~the~~ official announcement of my appointment to the Hindes Coll. as Professor of Nat^l & Philosophy & Civil Engineering I beg leave to submit to the Committee of Management such suggestions as have occurred to me during my temporary attachment to that Institution with regard to the arrangements as they stand at present in the Coll. Department—1. To the present mode of classing the students there are very serious objections and in the opinion the Principal coincides. Thus in Mathematics there are 3 Classes two of which only I believe belong to the Coll.
Department. These Classes have been con-structed irrespective of the Mathematical attainments of the Students but solely in consideration of their knowledge of Literature &c and the consequence of this is that Students are found in the 1st & 2nd Classes who would more prop-erly belong to the 3rd Class & vice versa.
This being the case I think the Committee will see that it is quite impossible for a Professor to discharge his duties in a manner either satisfactory to himself or advantageous to the Students. I am fully sensible as to the confusion which un-derlies in establishing separate Classes in Math^s and Literature but this objection I think cannot apply should the Com-mittee adopt the following plan—There is a large hall in one wing of the Coll. of which no use is made. This I would convert into a Math^l Lecture room by providing for the accommodation of the 3rd Claps at the same time tho' in a man-ner quite distinct from one another. I should then have charge of the whole of the Math^l students at the same time and could therefore arrange them in the most suitable manner in the 3 Claps. It would be essential in this plan that I should have charge of the Coll. Depart^l during the whole of the morning or aftⁿ without any interference and during the rest of the day the students may return to their respective lectures and arrange themselves as before according to usage.

The mode in which I should employ the students is this. To each clap I would assign a Math^l subject and continue to lecture them in that subject till they attained a sufficient acquaintance with it to change for another. Each Clap should be furnished with Clap books in the subject they are then receiving lectures upon.
I will now suppose that the 1st Clap is being lectured upon Trigonometry - the 2nd upon Algebra & the 3rd upon Euclid and that these claps are put under my charge at 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ to continue so if possible till 10 o'clock. I should then give the 1st Clap an Examination extending over a chapel or more as the case may be together with such practical questions as may arise from that part of the subject & devote an hour & a half to them in this manner. At the same time I should assign certain portions of Alg. & Euclid to the 2nd & 3rd Claps for them to read & prepare during the time I am attending to the 1st Class. I should then proceed to employ the 2nd & 3rd Classes alternately, during the remaining hours in the same manner be giving them an Examⁿ in what they had been reading and employ the 1st Class in preparing for the morrow. In this manner each student would be fully employed at the same time and acquire a more extensive acquaintance with Math^s than he could under the present system.

Perhaps the Committee may object that andee prominence would thus be given to Math^s if so, I would suggest that the students be employed according to the above plan 2½ hours one day and 1½ the next. This I think the Committee will not judge too much especially when they consider that at the same time the students would be acquiring a better mode of expounding themselves in English.
This plan I trust the Committee will take into their consideration and should they adopt it I feel sure they would find the beneficial results of its working in the Examⁿ of 1848.

2. The above plan presupposes a sufficient number of Class books to accommodate the remaining students during the time of Examⁿ of the other. This at present is not the case but as the students must in any system be provided with Class books either at their own expense or that of the Coll. I cannot consider this as an objection to the plan. In Euclid the Coll. is supplied provided. In Algebra this is not the case In the 1st Class there are 25 students - in the 2nd 36 and in the 3rd 34 - whilst in

The number of Standard Algebras is about 20. & thus I find that the 13th Class is continually complaining of want of books of the various rules in Alg. The coll. has already expended a sufficient sum upon these works relating to Alg. and I would not wish the committee to expend any further sum in this manner. To supply the existing deficiency I think will be a very easy matter and I would suggest that a manuscript be prepared containing only the proofs of the chief Alg. & divisions Examples to be supplied by the Lecturer at the time the Class is under his charge.
This would occupy any student only short time in copying and would thus furnish him with as much Alg. & bookwork as is absolutely necessary. Such a M.S. will soon be drawn up and should the Committee approve I will set about the thing immediately and beg to suggest as a remuneration for my services that my present salary be commenced with the 1st of Aug^r instead of the 11th.

In Trigonometry the College is very deficient and an immediate addition would be most ad-visable. Hyman's Trigonometry upon that subject is as cheap and desirable as any published again with regard to Conic Sections which is one of the Math^s & subjects appointed for 1845. present I have no text books to give to students and no degree of acquaintance with such a subject can be expected under existing circumstances. Undoubtedly the Edⁿ of Hyman is much superior to any other & is now solely used at Cambridge.
I trust the Committee will furnish sufficient number of copies for the accom-modation of the 1st class. The ^{2nd} next subject for 1848 is Geom² of 3 Dimensions. There are only two works upon this subject the one by Hymers & the other by Gregory both of which are very expensive and embody much matter which will never be of service to the Hinder Coll. Students. What I would propose in this subject is that a small work be compiled from the best sources and got up cheaply. Such a case the Committee would probably encourage and to compile a book and to the wants of the Coll. - In Mechanics & Hydrostatics again the same deficiency exists, & both these subjects will be required in 1848. In Newton's Principia the Coll. is well supplied and I think the Com-mittee would do well to require this subject yearly on many accounts. It forms an introduction to the Differential Calculus and Astronomy and is one of the most important subjects at the Universities.

3. The present Math² Lecture room is very deficient in accommodation and situated in a most inconvenient position on account of the incessant noise which requires the doors to be shut.
There is barely room for 20 students and in the 2nd & 3rd classes 36 & 34 are present with regard to any remaining at the during working hours I trust the Com-mittee will consider their decision.

At present there is no room fitted up for the Math^s Professor - a circumstance to which I would earnestly beg the Committee attention. Again should the plan which I have proposed meet with the Committee approbation - there would be no occasion that I should remain in the other part the day inasmuch as the two classes would be fully engaged with other duties.
I hope the Committee will see the immediate necessity of providing suitable accommodation for the Math^s Professor should they require his attendance continually at the Coll.

4. Should the Committee adopt the plan of the Math^s classes I should consider myself solely responsible for their progress at present the students are so deficient in analysis that no Lecturer could devote his attention entirely to Physical Science.
Under these circumstances it would be immaterial whether Mr. Rice joined system were disturbed or not. This Committee cannot I think consider either myself or Mr. Cuyler as in any degree responsible for the Math^s part at the present time inasmuch as we think it quite impossible that any degree of proficiency is acquired under such arrangements. I have the honor to be

With reference to the extract from the proceedings of the Committee of Management of this Hindu College dated 1st February 1847 Para 41 communicated to me the 9th April After my rejoining the College, I had delayed replying to it as there were difficulties in procuring a set of Mathematical Instruments sufficiently exact to draw the Diagrams of a Solar Eclipse, which are of no use unless drawn with great accuracy.

In order to impart to the pupils a correct knowledge of a Solar eclipse & to choose the necessary data only for the calculation, I was obliged to explain so many points in Astronomy, that finally I resolved to go carefully over the prescribed Class book on Astronomy Brinkley, which I did the more readily as the Professor of Natural Philosophy did not touch on that subject.

The better part of the pupils of the 1st Class have a sound understanding of Eclipses, as far as a knowledge of Astronomy, Spherical Trigonometry, and orthographic
-cal projection goes, but for want of good Mathematical instruments, only inac-curate diagrams could be drawn.

The Diagram & Calculations of Muroghind Sun and Prosunnoformar Surbadhicary were extremely good and neat, but the Diagram & Calculations by Saur Chunder Mitter surpass all in neatness of execution & accuracy of calculation (both of which accompany this letter); the most minute data are applied, the Latitude of Calcutta has been reduced for the Spheroidicity of the Earth, the Moon's Longitude as given in the Nautical Almanac is corrected for the small quantity of aberration, second Differences are applied to all variable quantities &c.

May I hope the Committee will not deem me indiscreet in requesting they will be good enough to recommend Baboo Jeechunder Mitter for a distinguished mark of approbation for this most correct Diagram & laborious calculations.

As for the correctness of the times of the Beginning & that of the greatest obscuration of the Eclipse as well as to the number of digits (nearly) eclipsed, every individual who will be at the pains of setting his watch correct to Mean Noon can accurately ascertain & behold the Respecting the

Leaving of the Senior College

Dear Sir
Respecting the reference to your communication regarding my appointment as visitor of the School Society's School I beg to lay before you the following statement for the consideration of the Committee of arrangement.

The new building to which the School Society's School has lately been removed, is at a considerable distance from the College. The road to it is exposed in an extraordinary degree to the direct rays of the sun. During the day no shelter from the heat is afforded either by houses or trees. I am sure my health would suffer by passing back and forward on foot.

to enable me to visit the school as frequently as is desirable, without entering risk to my health, it will be absolutely necessary for me to make a pilgrimage. The expense of a pilgrimage and Boarders will be 25 Rs per month.
I beg to request that the Committee will be pleased to authorize me to draw the sum monthly, out of the 50 Rs per month hitherto allowed to the visitor of the School Society's School.

I shall feel much obliged by your sending round this letter in circulation to the Members of the Committee of Management, in order to obtain an early reply, and to enable me with the least possible delay to make arrangements for regularly visiting the School Society's School.
